

English Communication Skills — Comprehensive Notes

Course Code: 25B11HS111 • Department of Humanities & Social Sciences • JUIT

1. The Communication Process & Barrier Elimination

Communication is a two-way dynamic process comprising: Sender → Encoding → Channel → Decoding → Receiver → Feedback. Barriers include physiological, psychological, semantic, and environmental interferences.

2. Phonetics & International Phonetic Alphabet (IPA)

- Vowels: Monophthongs (pure vowels) and Diphthongs (gliding vowels).
- Consonants: Voiced vs Voiceless consonants, plosives, fricatives, nasals.
- Word Stress & Intonation: Distinguishing noun vs verb forms (e.g. REcord vs reCORD).

3. Formal & Business Writing

- Professional Email Writing: Subject line clarity, formal salutation, concise body, professional sign-off.
- Technical Reports: Executive summary, methodology, findings, and recommendations.